Financial Markets Stage Comeback Performance Only Second to Gains Days of 1929—Industry Not Slow.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The financial markets staged a comeback performance today, only second to gains of the days of 1929—industry not slow.

The market's recovery was aided by a report that the government had agreed to a new tariff schedule, which would give the United States a more favorable position in the world market.

ministers, were all present at the meeting which ended in official announcement of the "agreement in principle."

"How would the scheme be operated?" the Canadian Minister asked.

"I cannot go into details now," Mr. Bennett replied.

During the "Big Four" discussion proposals for acreage limitation have varied between 10 and 20 per cent. The general impression is that the conference will settle on a figure between 10 and 15 per cent.

The next move is an approach to the European wheat-producing countries and the principal importing countries with a view to securing their co-operation.

It is further felt that the import countries should make an effort to increase their consumption.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Parmenter of the United States now pays no more for the things they buy than they do before the war and they are getting within 25 per cent as much for the things they sell.

The index of farm prices in May was 62 per cent of the 1914-16 average, as compared with 58 in April, 48 in the low point in February and 54 in March 1929, when the average prices paid by farmers are 100 per cent of pre-war, the 25 per cent increase since February shows the prices they received represents a corresponding increase in the exchange value of farm products.

Rising Prices Do Not Compensate For Debts, Claim

Speakers Declare Co-operative Organizations Have Way, But Are Unable to Function Under Existing System.

SASKATON, July 5.—Confronted with rising prices for the majority of farm products, but at the same time purchased with goods generally increased during the last three years of depressed values, farmers of Saskatchewan, as represented by the United Farmers of Canada, have moved sharply from the bottom along which it had been struggling for so many months.

From a low point of 12 per cent in the fourth week of December the United States industry has climbed until at present the level of prices is at approximately 50 per cent of pre-war.

On a upward climb the industry crossed the line of 1929 operations in April and passed the level of 1921 in June. At 50 per cent the industry is at least at any time since 1921.

Workers' Pay Envelope Has $2 Now Added

Earnings Still Abnormally Low, But Growing Steadily

NEW YORK, July 5.—While earnings of workers in the manufacturing and service industries of the United States were still abnormally low as the first half of the year ended, the trend in the individual worker's weekly envelope increased about 2 per cent in the last three months.

Statistics from the National Industrial Conference Board show that the average weekly wage of a worker in the manufacturing industries was $12.50 in May, compared with $12.00 in February.

The increase in earnings was not uniform, however, and in many industries workers were still earning less than in 1929.

THE GROUND CLEARED

Whether the world conference craves, as it threatens to do, or carries on, one point of major importance has been established, and that is that it cannot have been established as soon or as positively without such a gathering.

The "gold" issue has been fought in a final, and nobody can doubt that it will be fought. It has to be some other world standard or none.

France seems to have imagined that countries which had been in the habit of being used to resume doing business on the pretence that they had. At the end of the three weeks' battle the standard was for France to drop the demand or break up the market, and to be left off.

The organized world standard of exchange it will have to be something different, and something workable.

The former standard of London and the reasons why it broke down forbid its reinstatement.

If the conference has got nowhere on the money question, it has lost much more than it has gained. It has cleared the ground for discussion, as to what that basis is to be. Knowing what cannot be done, the way it now goes on to consider what can be done.

RUSSIA AGAIN IN THE MARKET

Russia and Britain have resumed trading relations, and Thornton and MacDonald have been let out of their prison.

That will not be altogether good news for the lumbermen of British Columbia. Nor for the shippers of grain, claiming that their products are in danger in future years for the wheat growers on the prairie.

It is a country of vast resources and vast wants. It supplied Britain with lumber and the exclusion of Canadian lumber until the recent break in relations. Russian and Japanese fishermen have curtailed the market's clamour, and it is expected that Russia as a potential wheat-producer is not to be left out of the calculation.

It is not surprising, therefore, that other manufacturers produce in enormous quantities. British manufacturers have these things for sale. The resumption of trading relations will mean the resumption of the market's clamour, and the loss or prospective loss of some important Canadian interests.

Wheat exporters and exporters have been by no means satisfied with the concessions they secured in the treaty that was framed at Ottawa a year ago. They have lodged some protests with the British government, claiming that their products are practically excluded from our markets, and have only too good grounds upon which to base their protests.

Premier Bennett and Mr. Rhodes, who are now in London, should be kept abreast of the new situation that is in the air. The resumption of Russia to British goods and the resumption of Russian supplies of supply for British import needs. If we are to capture and hold British trade in competition with Russia, no time should be lost in getting about it.

GRASSHOPPER ECONOMY

Clear across the southern belt of Canada's great wheat-producing area the provincial governments are fighting grasshoppers and the farmers are praying for more rain.

At the same time market experts, public officials, and financial authorities tell us the chance of weather is the most valuable asset, and that it depends upon the Canadian crop being small. And they have the figures and the records to back up their statements.

The farmers. It appears from this, are really petitioning Heaven to send low-priced wheat, and that is not the kind of petition that is likely to be answered. The farmers' business unprofitable. Should their joint-efforts prevail, it is predicted, prices will advance no higher and may go lower. And the advantage is supposed to be the evidence of what has happened in similar situations.

There are some people, of recognized world-wide standing in such matters, who grow more positively that there is nothing seriously wrong with our economic or monetary systems. Anyone who has seen the wheat in the world's granaries is said to be "brain trained," "well-eyed," or otherwise ruled out of court as incompetent to express an opinion.

According to these high priests of economic orthodoxy, there is nothing to be done about it. A large increase of real wealth, they say in effect, can never be produced in such matters, who grow more positively that there is nothing seriously wrong with our economic or monetary systems. Anyone who has seen the wheat in the world's granaries is said to be "brain trained," "well-eyed," or otherwise ruled out of court as incompetent to express an opinion.

Perhaps those who can themselves believe so horrible a doctrine can imagine other dumb enough to accept it without question. Perhaps to them it is inconceivable that human ingenuity should find a way to put surplus food within reach of hungry people. But it seems pretty likely that human ingenuity is going to make a try for that very thing, right here in Canada, and that our Government will have to decide the position.

The farmers who welcome a promising field of wheat withering under a blast of wind or being eaten up by grasshoppers stand in the same position as the workmen at the street corner wondering how he can get food for his family. It is useless to quote to them, the "inevitable" fact that plenty must breed poverty, and tell them that the grasshopper is their friend. Grasshopper economy has had its day.

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE BOHEMIAN HYMN
In the morning I would like to draw to the attention of the citizens of this province the condition of our Government at the present time. We have a skeleton cabinet that is dilatory in dealing with important questions and seems to have no definite policy as to any future program. It seems that the members of the cabinet are not to be at conference at Ottawa or Winnipeg, and with no results, only promises that some future program will be undertaken.

It is possible for any minister to operate from June to four departments. There is one thing that is certain, it is that it is a very discouraging news, and is time that the members of the province should petition demanding some definite changes in our Government, or that an election be called and some responsible party installed or a coalition Government. This province needs some action, instead of this remaining policy at present operating.

On This Date - A Day in Canadian History

By Fred Williams

WHEN ENGLAND GAVE UP CANADA

On this date, in 1622, Quebec was taken by the English. Champlain had on July 20, 1622, been compelled by force of circumstances to surrender his post to Louis and Thibault, the gentlemen, and French soldiers, who had, by chance, won for a time control of the St. Lawrence; details of that event will be recalled in the history of July 20.

Champlain had left Quebec confident that if he could get rid of the English from Quebec, he would have Canada restored and on his advice some 30 of his people had remained at Quebec to "hold the fort" so to speak, until his return. It took him three full months to cross the Atlantic, not to mention the time he spent in the French ambassador's office in London.

He went straight to London to the French ambassador where he was determined to retrieve the situation. The first news Champlain had from the Ambassador was that a month before a treaty had been signed which ended the war between England and France and that Champlain had been asked to arrange for it by means of diplomacy.

Champlain had with him a map of Canada and spent five weeks in London directing negotiations, after which he proceeded to Paris where he made good his impression upon Louis XIII. and Cardinal Richelieu that a letter was addressed to Champlain demanding the restoration of the chateau and fort at Quebec and all his harbours on the Atlantic coast. Champlain replied that he was willing to restore Quebec, but made no mention of Acadia.

Champlain's mission was set on foot by a fleet of ships which he had sent to Quebec to take possession of the territory.

Champlain did not return to Quebec until May 22, 1623, and died two years and a half after. He had won back the territory which he had given up for France; he knew that it was an empire of great promise; and he had secured the return of the territory which he had given up for France.

The Passing Show

By J. S. Cooper

It's surprising how knowledge grows as the "passing show" of the year's article with the discovery that I am insane (the doctors say we are all insane on something or other) I discover several other grounds for an insanity finding.

A Vancouver paper announces the return of a youth who had knocked another senseless in two minutes and fourteen seconds with a left hook in the face. It is headed:

"JIMMY"

WELCOMED HOME
Met by civil party at Bialine, Triumphant Procession

It says:

"A delegation of civil representatives met Mr. McLarnin at the international boundary to extend to him the city's congratulations on his recent triumph over Congratulation at Los Angeles.

It was the Jimmy Jimmie car reached Vancouver it was the central feature in a jubilant procession.

There's three quarters of a column of it, with a full page "cut" inside showing Jimmy with his clenched fist as if about to bring greater honor to the great port by knocking someone else senseless in two minutes and twelve seconds with a left hook in the face and ten seconds, maybe it ends with this gem of an idea information about it, here in, indicated black face type.

"McLarnin has no plans for the six days or so he will be in town. He will probably play a good good part of the time."

All that leaves me unimpressed. Even if Jimmy, whom I have seen perform, had been able to knock someone senseless in two minutes and eight seconds, it doesn't seem to connect with triumphal processions of defeated enemies, the former of which is the need for the Police. I once got kicked senseless in a dock rest in less than a minute, but the police didn't attend, and it didn't bring any honor to the seaport.

It's a queer feeling to be crazy and to know it. It's a queer feeling to be crazy and to know it. It's a queer feeling to be crazy and to know it.

The reporter who had last quoted paragraph wasn't crazy. He has contributed a new technique to journalism for making bricks of indented black face news without waiting the straw of facts. McLarnin has no plans for the next six days. He will probably play a good good part of the time."

That opens up vast possibilities for black face news.

Premier Bennett has no plans for the next six days but he will probably make several speeches.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King has no plans for the next six days but he will probably make three meals each day.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King has no plans for the next six days but he will probably make three meals each day.

Here's another item that makes one wonder if he is sane or not. It comes from Los Angeles and reads:

"Receipt of a cablegram summoning David R. Hutton Jr. to the bedside of his wife Almira."

"Almira" Mrs. Hutton, a well-known actress of Angles Temple, in Paris, was announced Sunday at the $100,000 sanctuary of the Four Square Gospel.

It tells how Almira, the wife of the late David W. Hutton, who had been in the hospital for some time, was taken to the $100,000 sanctuary of the Four Square Gospel.

How can the "Four Square Gospel" be justified either as a news item or as an evidence of religiosity, without bringing in the cash value of the sanctuary?

USE MORE NATURAL BEVERAGES
When the warm days of summer come, we find a profusion of the cleansing juice fruits and succulent vegetables, as though Nature intended man to make use of these wholesome foods during the summer months. Many people object to fast-foods and cold drinks, and this is a common complaint of being chilly, but this condition does not exist during warm weather. When surrounded by warmth, the body is more susceptible to the toxins that are present with so many disorders.

The real fruit juices are not only pleasant to the appetite, but they possess an undoubted health value. A glass of fresh fruit juice, or fruit juice, will neutralize the acid wastes in the body and add to the protective alkaline reserves in the blood. There are a great many varieties of fruit juices which have this virtue, among them being orange juice, apple juice, grape juice, pineapple juice, tomato juice, grapefruit juice, etc.

It is a common mistake to suppose that fruit juice is a healthful food. The warm weather gives the people an increase in energy after drinking them.

To secure the greatest amount of benefit from fruit juice, it is important to select the best, so that the stomach will be empty of other foods, and absorb them more readily. When used in this way, these juices have their best effect of eliminating impurities. None of these wholesome fruit juices require much effort on the part of the body to digest them, and this is one of the reasons why many people find fruit juice a healthful food.

Almost any of the acid fruits or berries can be made into wholesome drinks by crushing them and straining out the juice. A great many of the whole fruits can be made into a smooth drink, such as a genuine fruit juice. Children, especially, should be taught to know and recognize this difference, for I cannot recommend punches that consist solely of artificial coloring and sugar. The real fruit juices, such as citrus acid or phosphoric acid. The real minerals required for the child's growing body are not in the sugar.

There is quite a bit of difference from the health standpoint, however, between the real fruit juices and the imitation fruit flavored drinks which are so common. The latter are a small imitation of a genuine fruit juice. Children, especially, should be taught to know and recognize this difference, for I cannot recommend punches that consist solely of artificial coloring and sugar.

For those who wish fresh fruit juices in large quantities, I can recommend the fruit presses and hand mills which can be obtained in most hardware stores. These are very handy and will save you a great deal of money. The warm weather gives the people an increase in energy after drinking them.

Law Requires Setting up Conciliation Board in Like Cases

MONTREAL, July 5.—While running trades employees of Canadian railways are considering going out on strike, union officials of the shop workers yesterday informed the railway association they would not accept the proposed addition of 10 per cent cut in wages. Some 35,000 employees work in the shops of Canadian railways and they are members of the railroad employees department of the American Federation of Labor.

No vote was taken on the question, C. H. Dickie, secretary of the division stated, but so many protests came in unopposed the union heads decided to oppose the cut.

AT OLD SCALE
While the cut was to have gone into effect July 1, the employees will get their wages at the old scale until July 15 as the law requires the setting up of a board of conciliation under the industrial disputes investigation act before reduction can be made operative without the consent of the men affected.

The next step, it was indicated, is to set up a board of conciliation under the industrial disputes investigation act before reduction can be made operative without the consent of the men affected.

HOLD CISTS JUSTIFIED
The majority report of the board in the case held the new 10 per cent cut justified but in a minority report the employees' representative held the reduction should not be made.

As it stands the running trades of the shop workers are in a deadlock. The findings of the board as final, going out on strike or entering into further negotiations with the railway.

A strike is being seriously considered and J. B. Ward, chairman of the associated body, said that the shop workers are in a deadlock. The findings of the board as final, going out on strike or entering into further negotiations with the railway.

MOOSE HUNTER
CHEATS DEATH
WASKESIU LAKE, Sask., July 5.—Suffering intense pain from the fatal indifference of his race, Wm. Bird, 22-year-old Cree Indian, of Montreal Lake reserve, was brought yesterday by a hunter, his knee shattered by a gunshot wound.

Weak from hunger, exhausted from the intense heat and frost-bitten, Bird lay for more than 24 hours in the bush motionless. He was found by other members of his tribe. He lay on his back, his face turning out to the sun, his hands clasped over his head, his knees bent.

Since Saturday Bird has been ministered to by his tribe but modern science finally triumphed, and his mother, a full-blooded Cree, who still believes in the power of herbs and black magic, was persuaded to allow her son to be taken to a doctor.

Suffering terribly Bird bore the trip from Montreal Lake without complaint, and upon arrival here was rushed by auto to Prince Albert, 70 miles away.

U.S. BUSINESS ON UP TREND
NEW YORK, July 5.—Business in the United States has taken a decidedly upward trend. The New York board of trade reported Tuesday on the basis of a survey of conditions in 100 representative cities.

Increases in employment, pay rolls, wage, industrial production, wholesale and retail sales, postal receipts, bank clearances, gas consumption and other indices, in the conclusion, the board said.

The conclusion is inescapable that the depression is over and that we are well on the road to recovery, said Percy C. Mazman, president of the board.

J. F. HERMAN NAMED HEAD FARM PARTY

Saskatchewan Organization is Preparing for Next Election

SASKATOON, July 5.—Fremont in action of the farmer movement in Saskatchewan for the last 20 years, J. F. Herman, of Rocanville, last night was named the leader of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, the organization responsible for the entrance into Saskatchewan politics of this newly formed Farmer-Labor party.

Vice-president of the U. F. C. for the last two years, Mr. Herman was last night unanimously elected president for the ensuing year. Six others were nominated, but withdrew in favor of the Rocanville farmer.

Included in the nominees were Frank Kilson, secretary of the U. F. C., Joseph Phelps, already named Farmer-Labor candidate at the next election in Melton constituency, Mr. F. C. and Tom Johnston, of Gowan, a member of the Saskatchewan commission three years ago on immigration.

Today balloting will take place for the vice-president's office and for the presidency of the women's section. Directors will be chosen by local districts.

The Farmer-Labor party has already nominated 23 candidates in this province in the anticipation of an early provincial election. Three candidates will appear on the platform at the annual convention, Thursday night when addresses will be given by M. J. Colwell, Regina school principal, and head of the Farmer-Labor movement in Saskatchewan, and by George H. Williams, former president of the U. F. C. and at present political organizer for that group.

HOLIDAY FOR ROOSEVELT ENDS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 5.—President Roosevelt concluded his vacation at sea yesterday and returned to the quiet waters of Chesapeake Bay, observing Independence Day at a family luncheon aboard the cruiser Indianapolis.

Refreshed and cheered by his two weeks on the ocean, the president returned to the White House after a brief stopover at Annapolis. He noted attentively reports from the deadlocked London economic conference throughout the day and appeared hopeful of progress. But he did not seem to be particularly interested in the back-to-work movement at home, which has been ordered to begin this month.

Imported Powder Puffs Will Cost Miss Canada More

OTTAWA, July 5.—Miss Canada's beauty is going to cost her more money than ever before. The tariff revenue boosted the excise tax on imported cosmetics and powder puffs from three to 10 per cent. More than that, this assault on the domestic vanity can be traced to the tariff revenue to March 22, 1933, so that if Miss Canada's beauty is to be kept 10 per cent on the foreign market, the importer will be required to pay the increased tax to the government.
